

Name of Course	Art and Design (9704)
Examining board	Cambridge International Examinations (CIE)
Link to specification	www.cambridgeinternational.org/images/329547-2019-syllabus.pdf
Course entry requirements	To study A-Level Art and Design students should have at least a Grade B in Art and Design at IGCSE or equivalent.
Why Art?
Course content (Year 12/AS)	Cambridge International A Level candidates take four components over two years. In Year 12 students take Components 1 and 2. Component 1: 15 hour controlled Test A level weighing 30% AS weighing 60% Component 2: Coursework A Level weighing 60% AS weighing 40%
Course content (Year 13/A)	Cambridge International A Level candidates take four components over two years. In Year 13 students take Components 3 and 4. Component 3: Coursework A level weighing 30% Component 4: Personal Study A Level weighing 20%
Exam structure	This is an externally set examination that is marked by Cambridge. Candidates choose one question from the examination paper from which to make studies in any suitable medium, process or technique. Candidates are expected to develop a visual response, observe directly from primary sources and record, analyse and develop their ideas in two and / or three-dimensions. Students are given a minimum of three weeks preparatory time and 15 hours in which to complete a final response to their exam question.
Summer suggestions	